

TEXTO

US pushes Apple for access to iPhones in criminal cases

The US Department of Justice has said it will pursue its request for Apple to help unlock an iPhone that is part of a drugs case in New York.

A letter filed to a local court said the government "continues to require Apple's assistance".

In Boston, unsealed court papers show a judge ordered Apple to assist authorities in another criminal case.

The judge ruled it was "reasonable" to ask Apple to extract data from the device.

US Magistrate Judge Marianne Bowler made the Boston order in February, but it was only unsealed on Friday.

Fonte: BBC - 08/04/2016

TEXTO – TRADUÇÃO LIVRE

US pushes Apple for access to iPhones in criminal cases

Estados Unidos pressionam Apple para acessar iPhones em casos criminais

The US Department of Justice has said it will pursue its request for Apple to help unlock an iPhone that is part of a drugs case in New York.

O Departamento de Justiça dos Estados Unidos disse que prosseguirá seu pedido para que Apple ajude a desbloquear um iPhone que é parte de um caso de drogas em Nova Iorque.

A letter filed to a local court said the government "continues to require Apple's assistance".

Uma carta enviada para a corte local disse que o governo "continua a requerer a assistência da Apple".

In Boston, unsealed court papers show a judge ordered Apple to assist authorities in another criminal case.

Em Boston, papéis judiciais revelados mostram a ordem de juiz para a Apple ajudar as autoridades em outro caso criminal.

The judge ruled it was "reasonable" to ask Apple to extract data from the device.

O juiz sentenciou que era "razoável" pedir a Apple para extrair dados do aparelho.

US Magistrate Judge Marianne Bowler made the Boston order in February, but it was only unsealed on Friday.

A Juíza Marianne Bowler deu a ordem de Boston em fevereiro, mas ela foi somente revelada na sexta-feira.